HAVE YOUR TRUCK AND SUV TOO.

This is Explorer Sport Trac. A vehicle that combines the strength of a truck with the comfort and capability of an SUV. Its standard 210-hp* 4.0L SOHC V6 engine, together with the available five-speed automatic transmission, can tow more than 5,000 lbs. (when properly equipped) and produce 248 lb.-ft. of torque. Most of which is low-end torque, we should add. And that means stronger acceleration and lots of pulling power. But it's not all truck-like behavior here. Five can get situated quite comfortably, with plenty of room in the open cargo bed for everyone's stuff. And Sport Trac can be equipped with either a 4x2 or 4x2/4x4 configuration and an Independent Front SLA Suspension for off-road capability. So, yes. You can have it all.

Explorer Sport Trac XLT Premium

*210 hp with E85 fuel; 205 hp with gasoline.

248 lb.-ft. of torque with E85 fuel; 242 lb.-ft. of torque with gasoline.

1. Standard on every model, the power rear (backlight) window lowers with the twist of a control knob, giving you access to the composite cargo bed from inside, or just some fresh air.
2. The composite cargo bed is not only corrosion-proof, but also dent- and scratch-resistant. And that's an industry first.
3. By night, the white instrument cluster sports a green luminescent glow. While the Audiophile™ AM/FM Sound System with in-dash 6-disc CD changer can produce 290 watts of peak power, day or night.
4. Capable of seating five in comfort, every Sport Trac comes with a 60/40 split bench rear seat. The XLT Premium is shown here with available two-tone leather-trimmed seats.
5. Fully lockable, this available hard tonneau cover protects your gear from all kinds of weather (not to mention unwanted guests), and can fold out of the way for easy access.

Explorer Sport Trac XLT

TALK VERSATILITY AND IT'S ALL SUV.

Four doors. Room for five. 210 horses.* That's just the beginning. When you take a closer look at the versatility Explorer Sport Trac has to offer, the list grows exponentially. Every model comes with 10 tie-down hooks in all. Three on each side rail. Four inside the bed. Each one more than capable of securing up to 700 lbs. Expand the possibilities by opting for the cargo cage. When folded out, it extends the bed to six feet. Handy feature when longer items find their way in back, don't you think? Water-resistant cloth seating is the standard. Molded rubber flooring can easily be washed off with a hose. Independent Front Suspension is all-terrain ready. Like we said, the list grows.

*210 hp with E85 fuel; 205 hp with gasoline.

FORD EXPLORER SPORT TRAC VS. NISSAN FRONTIER

We think Explorer Sport Trac is practically in a class of its own when it comes to versatility and performance. In fact, it's the only one that has a composite cargo bed. But what do you think? Take a look and see how it stacks up against the Nissan Frontier. Then experience the real thing with a test-drive. And for even more comparisons, visit www.fordvehicles.com.

Explorer Sport Trac Adrenalin 4x4

A GUARANTEED RUSH.

There's Explorer Sport Trac and then there's Explorer Sport Trac Adrenalin. The paint scheme is monochromatic with bumpers, moldings and front fascia following suit. While chrome gives the step bars and 16" wheels an anything-but-ordinary look. You can even plug in a portable DVD player, laptop computer or GPS unit with its 12-volt cargo area powerpoint (standard on all Sport Trac models). But if you really want to stand out, just turn up the stereo. The Pioneer® Ultimate Audio System is a 6-disc in-dash CD changer with MP3 capability. And it delivers on sound. 510 watts of power. An 8" subwoofer with eight speakers strategically placed in four different locations. Guaranteed to turn your head and everyone else's along with it.
